TOBACCO MILLS AND THEIR HISTORY-JM-PORTANT PATENT-RIGHTS CASE DECIDED .-The time of the United States Court (Judge Hughes presiding), from Wednesday morning to Saturday afternoon, was occupied each day from 10 A. M. to S P. M. with the trial of the suit of G. F. Marks, of Peters- Hicks's school; "The Rat and the Mouse," burg, versus H. M. Smith & Co., of Rich-Mr. Marks's mill contained no new features, eminent success. Of the recitations "The and that all of its parts-iron back, wood sinkers, iron sinker-plates, with the plates worthy of praise. "The Valley of Chasecured to the iron back by rivets-have been used in the same combination in Rich- dozen misses and masters; while "The Pomond and Lynchburg for twenty or thirty pey Song," by the little children composing he patent is void for want of novelty. Messrs. Charles Talbott, James M. Talbott, Lewis Parnes, and other witnesses testified that they, previous to the war, had tory address. made substantially the same mill for made substantially the same mill for which Mr. Marks claims to hold a patent, and that they had seen similar mills manufactured by H. M. Smith as early as 1846-'47. Frames made by Messrs. Smith, Talbott, and others from ten to twenty years ago were produced in court, having, in the main, the same features for which Mr. Marks claims to hold a patent. Mr. James Hardgrove testified that one of the frames shown in court belonged to a mill which was in use by his father as far back as witness could remember, and was still sometimes operated in the factory of his brother and himself.

The case was argued at great length by counsel. The jury, having been instructed by Judge Hughes, retired at half-past 2 o'clock, and at half-past 3 o'clock returned with a general verdict for H. M. Smith & Fourtill Grammar, No. 3, Miss R. Morse by Judge Hughes, retired at Ball-past z o'clock, and at half-past 3 o'clock returned with a general verdict for H. M. Smith & Co., on the issues agreed upon by counsel, stating that as to the merits of the case they found the general verdict for defendants on the issues, but were not agreed upon the question whether the second claim (using the iron back, with wood-sinker and iron sinker plates, with sinker-plates secured to the back by iron rivets,) on the patent was a new invention.

The Recent Difficulty at the Academy of Medicine, at meetings previous to Thursday night, fully discussed the propiety of Dr. McGuire's treatment of his price of the patent was a new invention.

patient, but, according to custom, never took any vote either approving or disapproving it. The Academy discusses for the information of members cases reported to it, but never by its vote passes its judgment upon the correctness of the treatment. No charges were ever presented against Dr. McGuire; he was never on trial. Therefore in his case no vote was necessary. The committee that reported Thursday night was charged solely with the consideration of ethical questions, and it exhonerated Dr. Wellford; and its report was unanimously adopted.

THE HOWITZERS GUN-CARRIAGES REPAIRED -TARGET-PRACTICE AND PIC-NIC. -The guncarriages and equipments of the Howitzers battery, damaged by the railroad accident on the return of the company from Charlotte N. C., have been replaced, and with the exception of the painting, which will be completed this week, the guns, etc., are now ready for use. The two Whitworth guns, part of the armament of the Virginia Oyster navy, presented by the Governor to the Howitzers, are being mounted on field-carriages. The company is arranging for a picnic and target-practice at Strawberry Hill on the 5th of July, on which occasion the Richmond Howitzer Association, composed of the veterans of the old Howitzer battalion, will participate. The addition of two more guns to the battery will give room for additional members to the company, and the young men of the city will no doubt basten to fill the ranks of this well-organized and efficient company.

CITY CONTRACTOR FINED .- Mr. Ashburner. the contractor with the city for the removal of night-soil, etc., by the edorless excavating process, was before the Police Court on Saturday, having been reported by the police for creating a nuisance at Colonel Cunningham's premises by allowing a barrel of material to remain upon the lot for several days. Mr. Ashburner was fined $5.

risibles excited. The next item on the programme was the reading of Mark Twain's " Buck Fanshaw's Funeral" by Manly B. Curry, of Richmond. This was well read, and seemed appreciated by the audience. "Larboard Watch" was capitally executed by a trio of the Co'lege Glee Club. It was loudly encored. One of the leading features of the occasion was the debate on the extremely interesting and important question, "Did Mary have a little The affirmative was maintained by Messry. George W. Riggan and J. W. Tucker, of Virginia; the negative by Messrs. J. F. Elison, of Virginia, and R. P. Felton, of North Carolina. The metaphysical, chemical, and bistorical arguments produced were simply overwhelming on both sides. In order to reach a conclusion of the argument Mr. Felton's time was extended two minutes At the expiration of this time the gentleman, in the midst of a grand period, was forced to desist, much to general regret. The Glee Club next sang "There Were Three Crows," which had to be repeated. Mr. V. M. Jackson, of Louisiana, delivered a most original declamation on "Co lumbus, who discovered America."

Music: "Cousin Jededish," by the "Calliopeans." Perhaps the leading thing of the evening was the proceedings in connection with the "School of Calico." Under this branch there was the delivery of distinctions and promotions in the junior class; delivery of diplomas in the senior class; and delivery of degree diploma to Mr. G. W. Carter, of Clarke county, Va., who happily delivered his graduating speech. Medals-rare for design and general beauty (wood)-were awarded as follows: Mr. V. M. Jackson, of Louisians, for being the best declaimer of the evening; Mr. Jeff. Adair, of Accomac, Va., smallest man; Mr. T. R. Gary, of Florida, most fastidious man. There was a tie as to who should receive the prize as ugliest man. The contestants were Messrs. A. G. Owing no doubt to my carelessness in making them, your reporter misunderstood the remarks I made on Friday in delivering the medals and the gold piece to Miss Emma Walters and Miss Zaidee Morton. Miss Morton is in a school of a different grade from that in which Miss Walters is a pupil, and did not compete with the latter at all, but with readers in her own grade. I took care not to say that they had been competitors, and not to say that the one or the other of them was the best reader. Whatever the fact may be, the committee had nothing to say as between those two young ladies.

The Barron Durkee prize awarded to Henry Harris was given to him as the best reader in the second grammar grade in the city of Richmond. It was with him and Miss Constance Cabell that Miss Morton competed; and it was because Miss Cabell and Miss Morton read almost if not quite as well as the successful boy that the committee (having but one prize to award in this grade) thought it proper to make "honorable mention" of them.

The medal delivered to Miss Morton by me was offered by her teacher (Miss Whiting) for "a good reader" in her own class, and by Messrs. Keiley, Binford, and McGilvray it was awarded to her as a "fine reader." W. F. DRINKARD.
